racket the great department store
we mean to maintain and increase our unrivaled reputation for low prices

If you ask a visit and inspection to convince the most skeptical bargainer that we are better prepared to offer inducements in the way of prices than any house in Kentucky, gold or bankrupt we have the largest store in this part of the state and you are invited to look through, we give a partial list of goods for sale by us and we have special inducements to offer in each line. We keep a buyer in New York all the time and he has the cash on hand down when he gets the price right we offer goods at prices others can't touch we have limitators but they can't match our prices

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS.

A CARLOAD of matches was ignited by lightning in transportation and burned the other day at Burgin, Ky.

The consumption of wine in Nimes, France, averages a bottle a day for every man, woman and child in the city.

The tensile strength of wrought iron rods varies as the square of the diameter. A 1-inch rod will support 7,000 pounds and a 2-inch rod 28,000 pounds.

A leaf of the parrotia pinnata is nearly thirty feet long. A single leaf of the parrotia magnolia of Ceylon affords shade for fifteen or twenty persons.

Thomsoen, in Norway, has just celebrated its 1,000th anniversary. In that time it has grown from sixty people to 6,000. The inhabitants are chiefly devoted to fishing.

The alligator does not attain his full length until he is fifty years of age.

When one year old his length is about twelve inches; at the age of fifteen he grows to two feet.

The cold is so intense in northern

Iceland that the earth never thaws to a greater depth than five or six feet.

Boots, Chukka boots, leather depth remain perfectly frozen.

A saltwater between Cozumel and

Salina Cruz, Mexico, which opens

a new means of transportation between

the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Coast has been completed recently.

The pin machine of England, Holland and Germany turn out an average of 67,000,000 pins for every working day of the year. At Birmingham one factory makes 50,000,000 pins per day.

ART AND ARTISTS.

PAOLO BAROVIERO was the intimate friend of Raphael, and is believed to have furnished many pictures planned or sketched by the latter.

GIACINTO RAVASI has rarely been passed in the technique of his art, it is rare to find one of his pictures cracked

or impaired.

ZAMPRIETI was the son of a shoemaker

and his father followed that calling. He was the genius of his time, and badly deformed.

MARACCIO was originally named Massi

the addition to the name being by way of reproach for his negligence and slowness in dress.

ONCIAZIO's Last Judgment, now in the Campo Santo at Pisa, was, in the fourteenth century, deemed the greatest picture in the world.

ROMANETTO's saints were depicted

with a sculptor's display of muscle that it was commonly said all his holy men

looked like prize fighters.

TINIFORTO's real name was Jacopo

Robusti. He was called Tiniforto from being the son of a dyer, the word Tin-

forte having that meaning.

TINO did his best work after sixty years of age. He lost one eye at that time, but painted with the same confidence until he became totally blind.

COTTON Growing in America.

Sixty thousand acres in this country

are devoted to cotton growing.

Pedestrians on Chestnut street, Philadelphia, very frequently notice a very pretty young woman who is attended by a fat, ugly pug dog. The young lady would attract more than a passing glance anywhere, says a local paper, and the dog perhaps two or three glances. The latter, however, is of some use besides being an ornament. Its owner is the typewriter of a large business house, and in this capacity prepares the incoming correspondence for the office. This dog takes his place regularly on the table about three p.m., and when the letters are ready to be stamped he accomodatingly lies down every stamp and seems to enjoy the operation.

NEWSPAPER WAIFS.

"I should like to kiss you as often as the ocean has drops," writes a fisherman.

"I'm a fisherman," pleads Blaster.

"I'm a fisherman," Jack, as he gazed at his twin brother, one week ago.

"Do you know what I am?"

"I'm a fisherman," "I'm a fisherman."

"What if I am a 'woman'?"

"I have a right to be."

"I'm his little sweetheart."

"He will tell the world to me."
